

The Opportunity

Many customers are accelerating their digital transformation and looking for solutions that help them run more stable, efficient and sustainable operations. There is significant potential to improve performance and reduce costs through smarter, data-driven and autonomous decision-making.

What is OPTIX™?

OPTIX is your digital autonomous operator. It continuously monitors the production process, anticipates issues before they occur and automatically adjusts key parameters to keep operations stable, efficient and on target.

In simple terms: OPTIX helps your plant run better, consume less, and produce more consistently – every single day.

How It Works

OPTIX connects to your data, identifies performance patterns, and automatically optimizes the process. Using predictive analytics, machine-learning models, and advanced process control, it applies corrective actions autonomously for continuous, real-time performance improvement.

- No complex manual tuning.
- No constant operator intervention.
- Just a more stable, efficient and predictable operation.

How OPTIX Helps You

1. Improve process stability & product quality

- Keeps critical KPIs on target
- Reduces variability both in the process and end-product
- Reduces off-quality and downtime.

2. Cost Savings

- Saves chemicals up to 10–15%.
- Reduces raw materials consumption.

3. Support your team

- Provides 24/7 monitoring and autonomous corrective actions
- Ensures consistent performance regardless of team experience or equipment age

4. Achieve your sustainability goals

- Reduces water, energy and chemicals consumption
- Minimizes emissions and carbon footprint
